The City of Summit is proud to co-host, along with the all-volunteer Mayor's Sustainability Task Force and Environmental Commission, its first annual Green Festival on Summit's Village Green on May 10, 2008 from 10am.

Participants will enjoy learning how neighbors, local businesses, community nonprofits and city departments are working together to make our city a healthier and better place to live. Discover some of the best green products and services available. Here are plans for the event...

- City volunteer committees will display information important to our community. Environmental Commission (clean power), Mayor's Sustainable Task Force (sustainability action plan), Recycling Advisory Committee (how to recycle exhibition) and more.
- Workshops where you will discover helpful new techniques and earth-friendly strategies (Yoga, Low Carbon Living, Home Energy Savings Tips, Reduce-Re-use & Recycle, Green Cleaning, Composting, Green Lawn Care, Local or Organic food demonstration and tastings, and Green Art how-to's!) and a living workshop Eco Van provided by the Trail Side Museum.
- Green Walking Tour and Eco Scavenger Hunt of Downtown Summit—local businesses will be invited to participate with a space on the map and will be encouraged to display educational information about the green practices or products while offering incentives to tour participants. Stores and participants will receive free reusable shopping bags.
- Non-Profits and Green Exhibitors will display useful information about the latest developments (Sierra Club, NJ Department of Environmental Protection, Slow Food, Green Faith, Fair Trade, Northeast Organic Farming Association, American Institute of Architecture, Lego Robotics, Alaskan Wilderness, Earth Share and more)
- Hear great, live music from local groups
- Green Film Fest- Chelsea Sexton star from "Who Killed the Electric Car" will be with us for a Q&A after the film!
- Bring household items and toys to trade at our "Free-cycle" community yard sale and donate items to charity (Cell phones for Soldiers, New Eyes for the Needy, Red Cross Blood, Bridges and more)
